

Highlights:

- Diurnal PM_{2.5} concentration variations were observed near the landfill sites
- Landfill combustion activities were significant sources of soot aggregate particles
- PAHs, Cd and Pb showed significant associations with DNA damage
- Regional source was possibly a dominant factor of DNA damage against from landfill