Aspirations, Inspirations and Expectations: Exploring the Educational Experiences and Transitions of Looked After Young People and Care Leavers in Wales

Inspire Me! Looked After Young People and Care Leavers transition and progression in post-16 Learning

17th March 2016

Dawn Mannay – mannaydi@cardiff.ac.uk
Project overview

This was an in depth qualitative study into the educational experiences and opinions, attainment, achievement and aspirations of looked after children and young people in Wales commissioned by the Welsh Government.

Objective 1: Conduct an in depth qualitative research study with looked after children and young people, to provide insight into their experience of education and their opinions on what could be done to improve it

Objective 2: Collate and report relevant literature and data

Project Partners – The Fostering Network, Voices from Care Cymru, Spice Innovate Music and Art Extension Project – Ministry of Life
Methods

• Statistical and literature review - Findings

• Systematic review - Findings

• Creative methods and interviews

• Peer researcher led focus groups

Key findings
Aspirations

LACYP did not lack aspiration

“I want to be an architect ... because I like art and most of my family are builders” (Male, age 12)

LACYP often had altruistic aspirations and wanted to help others

“I want to work with kids in care when I’m older because I know what it’s like and I’ve been through it most of my life. So I can actually be one of those people who turn around and say ‘I understand’, and actually do understand” (Female, 16+ group)
Aspirations – Enablers and Barriers

“She [foster carer] put a lot of belief in me and she always told me that I could do it [go to university]” (Female, age 21)

“So she had a look at it with me and she said well I can do this by hand, so she sat down with me and helped me do my homework... So that member of staff sat down with me and said we can do your homework here and there” (Female, 16+ group)

“‘Various foster carers and people to do with the care system were like ‘oh people in care don’t go to into higher education’. I wish social services would focus less on that because a lot of them have social work degrees so who are they to be telling anyone else that they’re not worthy of university? It’s like they don’t believe that children in care will do anything. And so if they don’t believe it, then how is anyone going to believe it about themselves?’ (Female, age 24)
Experiences – being ‘different’

‘Being made to feel like an outcast because I was in care... that made me feel alienated, frustrated, lonely and vulnerable’. (Male participant, 16+ group)

‘We don’t want people to be ‘looked after’, you want to be a normal kid too you know because it’s only one, its only label of you’ (Female participant, 16+ group)

‘I hate people feeling pity for me. I’m just a normal child, like...I’m in foster care, it doesn’t mean you’re just like some pity child' (Male participant, 16+ group)
‘I don’t know bad bit was like the LAC Reviews and whatever because the teachers kind of knew that you were in care and whatever and that, they all were, people would be like, ‘oh why are you are going with Miss So-and-so?’ (Nadine, age 21)

‘I just didn’t want it, I was like I don’t need that, it’s singling me out and its making me seem special when I’m not, I’m a normal person’. (Female participant, 16+ group)

‘Any meetings, if they are necessary, should be held outside of school time, not just at a time that is convenient for the professionals’. (Female participant, 16+ group)
Experiences – conflict in meetings

‘If you’re moved out of county then one county will argue with the other county about who pays for transport, who pays for the schooling, who pays for food, who pays for everything that has something to do with your education’ (Male Participant, 16+ group)

‘Councils are just like: ‘no that’s your problem, no that’s your problem, palming young people off sort of thing and it’s just really unpleasant’ (Male participant, 16+ group)

‘You know it shouldn’t have to be, ‘oh you’re paying for it, you’re paying for it’, you know? It’s a child, it’s a human being’ (Male participant, 16+ group)
Experiences – ‘let off’ or ‘let down’

‘As soon as I went into care, then went back to school and my teachers majority of them treated me completely different, because I was in care they moved me down sets, they put me in special help, they gave me – put me in support groups. And I was just like I don’t need all this shit, I’ve only moved house, that’s it I was like yeah I might be in care but the only difference to me is I’ve moved house, that’s it... they looked at all my papers and where I was in my levels and that and they was like you’re more than capable of being in top set but we don’t think you’re going to be able to cope.’ (Female, 16+ group)

‘It’s about motivation. All you need is a good kick up the arse. And I think if somebody had given that to me when I was 16 or 17, I would probably have been like ‘right, that’s it I want to, I’m going to do something with my life’ (Male participant, 16+ group).

Unintended consequences – position of leniency was often well-intentioned, based on what is known about LACYP and the difficulties they face.

But - teachers who they talked about as being best were those who encouraged them back into lessons/school, and pushed them academically, rather than allowing them to disengage with school work simply because of their ‘looked after’ status.
Experiences – foster carers

My foster carer said I could make it if I try hard enough and I train hard enough and I do (Connor, age 13)

Every time my foster mother goes to a parents’ evening she’ll say, ‘I’m so proud of you’, because I’ve done really well in school and I’m trying my best so I can’t do any better than that (Gareth, age 13)

It’s being a normal parent really isn’t it? It’s what they basically are. If you had children you would sit down with them and help them with their homework so why can’t foster carers? (Female participant, 16+ group)

You kind of hope that the foster carer at least has the reading and maths skills of a 7 year old. You’ve got to hope that they’ve at least got those skills… (Male participant, 16+ group).

To become a foster carer obviously you would have had to like go to school and go to like college or something…surely? (Female participant, 16+ group)
I’d always wanted to go. Just when college and school messed up like the first time, I kind of just thought that I’d wait until I was a mature student and figure out what I actually wanted to do. Like mainly because everyone always told me that I couldn’t. So it was just a kind of thing of I wanted to go just because I could. It was just various foster carers and various people to do with the care system were like oh people in care don’t go to into higher education kind of thing. (Megan)

That was one of the main reasons that I applied to University NAME is because they’re one on the only universities that mentions anything about care leavers on their website. Like they’ve got a whole video about it and yeah I just kind of like emailed STUDENT SUPPORT TEAM MEMBER before I came and she was just kind of really friendly and helpful and was just basically like if you ever need anything, just stop by. I emailed her as soon as I knew that I was coming here... she supported me the whole way through these two years. (Megan)

I think it would be just go for what you want to do and don’t let anyone tell you that you can’t do it. Like I wish social services would focus less on that because a lot of them have social work degrees so who are they to be telling anyone else that they’re not worthy of university? They need to like advertise it more, the support that is actually there, particularly the financial which they keep very well hidden. (Megan)
Experiences – getting to university - Nadine

My sixth form leader, she basically told me that I had no chance of getting into university... she made me feel quite rubbish sometimes. I remember telling her that I wanted to be a teacher and whatever, and she said you should look at college courses and stuff, and I was just like no I want to go to university. So it was kind of like I don’t know, like that will show her that I could get there. My foster carer she put a lot of like belief in me and she always told me that I could do it and when I’d come home crying because my teacher said I’m not going to be able to do it, she used to say no you can, you can, she was really supportive. (Nadine)

I was part of the looked after care council and we went to a conference thing and they were saying about students in care like not achieving what they should and whatever, and saying that only 1% like go to university and whatever. And my foster carer at the time, she was like, ‘you’re going to be that 1%’. And I don’t know it kind of just put a little bit of more belief in me and it just made me want to do it that little bit more. (Nadine)

Without my foster carer I wouldn’t be where I am today. So I think it is definitely important to talk about it yeah, be honest and try and inspire. My foster carer her children went to university as well so she was, she was all for it whereas I know other foster carers maybe who had not had the same experiences as my foster carer so it is important definitely. (Nadine)
Recommendations

The final research report concluded with 17 recommendations...

Minimising disruption during school time

Universal programmes for support

Educational champions to resolve disputes

Access to computers and to a wide range of reading materials

Opportunities to meet with others who are looked

Training for foster carers
